Taridium's VoIP solution produces savings – without sacrificing quality – for T4G

Toronto – September 22, 2008 – T4G Limited, a leading national full-service, project-based technology services company, recently reviewed its decision two years ago to solve the limitations of its PBX system with a VoIP solution from Taridium LLC. Given today's economic climate, many companies are searching for cost-cutting technologies to handle current and future telecommunications needs.

From a price-to-performance standpoint, T4G found that implementing Taridium's ipbx enterprise VoIP platform; the company actualized substantial savings—without sacrificing quality. Taridium's open-source solution has provided a feature-rich product with excellent reliability. The selection of Taridium, based on a system cost consistent with their corporate values, has proven to be a good decision for T4G.

"Taridium is top-notch. We couldn't be happier with our choice," stated Michael Cottenden, Chief Information Officer of T4G.

Post-sale support and service have been consistent, prompt and expert. Taridium's ipbx interface allows for remote management of users and locations, reducing costly on-site service calls. The comprehensive maintenance program provides clients with 24/7 monitoring and notification.

"Taridium's solution is an excellent fit for our growing, multi-location organization," Mr. Cottenden says. "24/7 monitoring is critical, and Taridium provides us service with a sense of urgency and professionalism."

Since conducting a trial of Taridium's VoIP solution over two years ago in one of their branch offices, T4G has implemented the PBX in all their office locations. Easily expanded and remotely managed, Taridium's system allows employees to be added in seconds and new locations in hours, during normal operations without affecting voice traffic. Still growing, T4G will be adding a fifth location in October 2008.

"For companies transitioning off of a legacy system or considering a new VoIP deployment, do your research and understand what your enterprise needs in a solution provider," advises Mr. Cottenden. "We needed a rock-solid phone system with room for expansion, and service that is exceptional and professional. We are fortunate to have made the right choice."
